ParaGolfer

Always in Motion

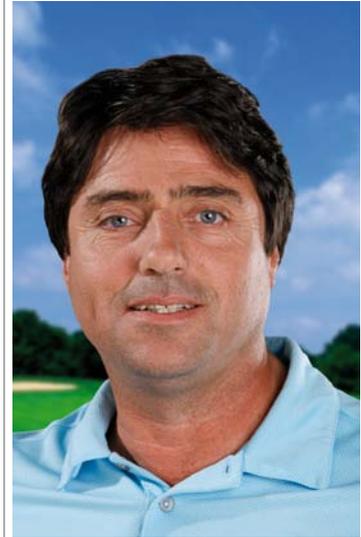

"Golf means exercise, fun and quality of life. This is especially important for people with limited mobility."

Anthony Netto knows what he is talking about. Even in hospital, the professional golfer suffering from multiple sclerosis recognised the integrative, healing effect of sports activities on the physical and mental well-being of people with physical limitations. Playing golf in spite of his illness was merely a matter of time for Netto.

He has reached his goal with the ParaGolfer by Otto Bock and benefits in all respects: In the meantime, he is once again able to hit the ball well over 200 metres. This speeds up the metabolism, stretches the muscles, reduces spasms and promotes joint mobility. The unique technology of the ParaGolfer brings the player to an upright position, permitting precisely those challenging movements to which Netto owes his 0 handicap.

For years, Anthony Netto has been travelling the world with his ParaGolfer. He works with professional golfers and trains the German national team of handicapped golf players. His stated goal is to reintegrate people with physical limitations into society. It is important to him for sound and disabled players to be at the same level in the game of golf. You play the ball as it lies, and how good your game is depends solely on the skill of the individual.

He and his team are welcome on greens around the world, since the ParaGolfer puts no greater demands on the carefully manicured lawns than a lawnmower. The manoeuvrable vehicle even allows a player to get the ball out of a sand trap. "It lets you play a full, normal game of golf," Anthony Netto exults.

Anthony Netto

Born in South Africa in 1963, the professional golfer has been wheelchair-bound since the year 2000. With the help of the ParaGolfer which he helped develop, he continues to actively play golf. Netto supports the German Disabled Golf Team, acts as a worldwide consultant for handicapped golfers and is the initiator of the "KidSwing" programme.

ParaGolfer – Go for Gold

The Special Edition with Olympic Extras

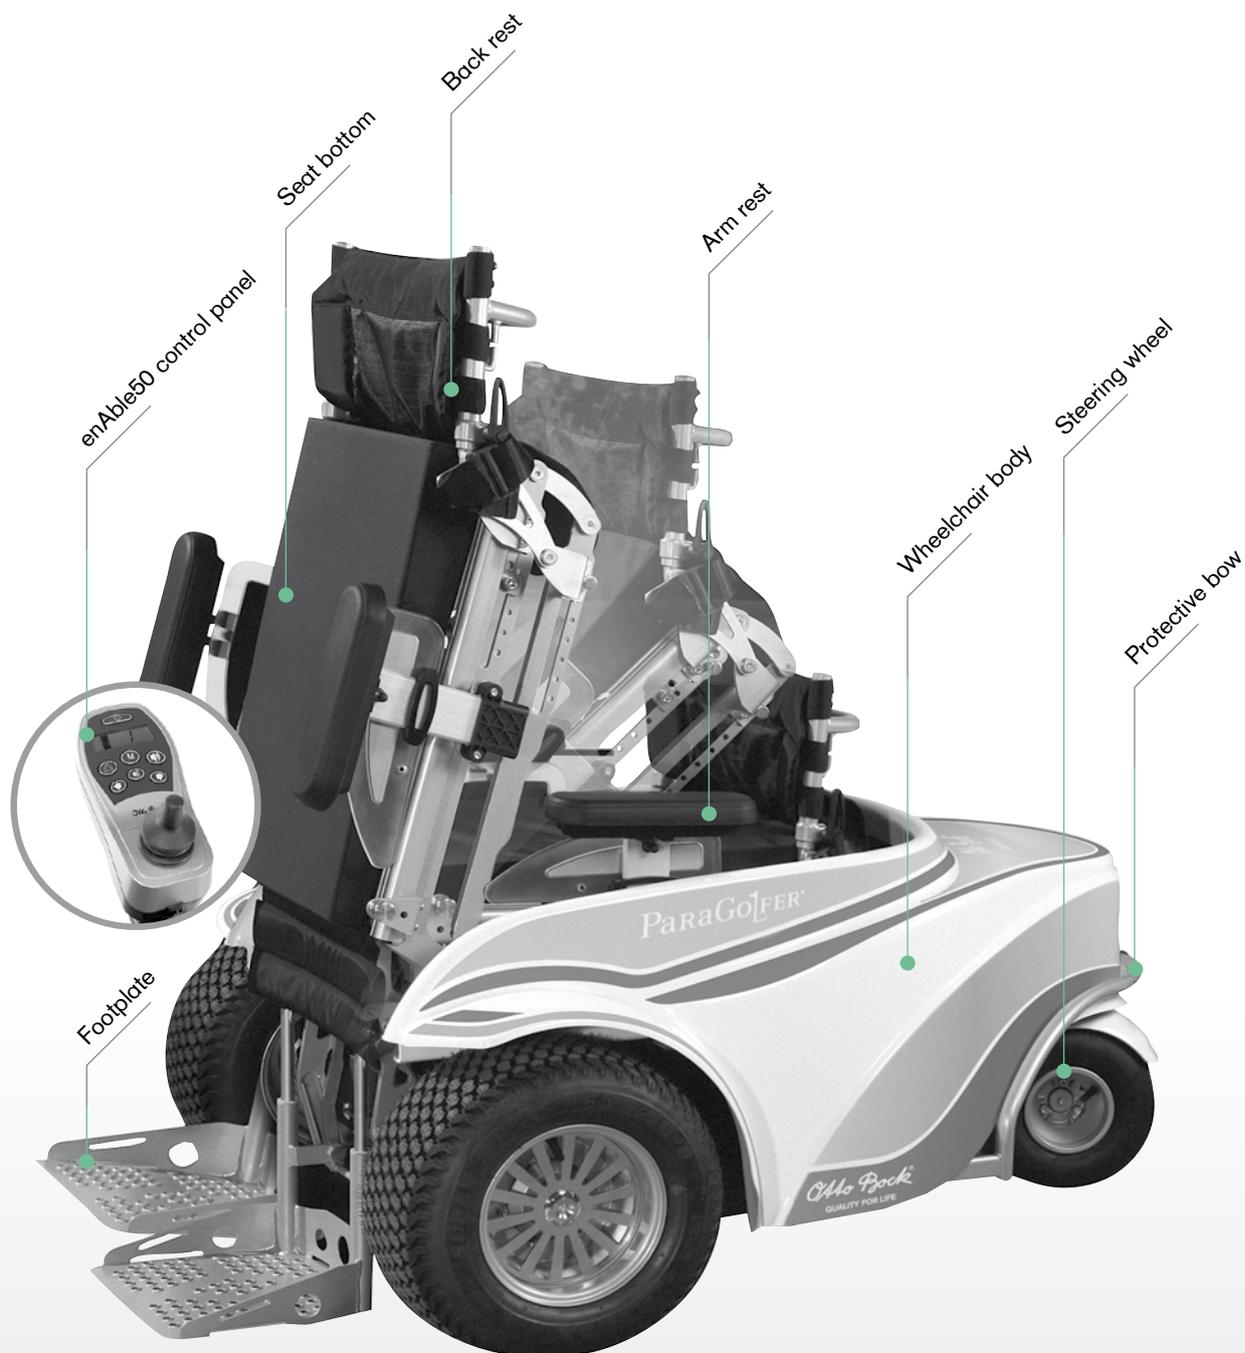

Golf "is played around the world, has its share of stars and, thanks to fair play, stands for the kind of sports that make the Games even better". That is how IOC President Jacques Rogge justified the decision of the International Olympic Committee in October 2009 to once again include the green sport in the canon of Olympic disciplines. Golf will also be represented as a sport at the Paralympics in Rio de Janeiro for the first time in September 2016.

Sports medicine studies have long since proven the extremely positive therapeutic effects of golf for people with physical limitations. The ParaGolfer allows them to move about on the green independently and with complete confidence. Not only does the ParaGolfer feature mature precision technology, it also shines with its attractive appearance. Thanks to the ParaGolfer, every player has the opportunity to perfect his or her personal, unique style in the game.

The models of the "Go for Gold" ParaGolfer special edition are unmistakable and distinctive. Equipped with all the advantages of the base model, they also feature an exclusive cover design and diversified, attractive equipment package.

The customised "Go for Gold" edition of the ParaGolfer is ideal when it comes to attracting maximum attention to golf events. Here, sound players and people with physical limitations share the joy of a sport they can play together. They jointly look forward to the Olympics under the motto "Go for Gold"!

Thanks to its three-wheel design and powerful motors, the ParaGolfer easily conquers slopes of up to 30% (corresponds to 17°). Neither sand traps nor embankments can stop it. If the maximum values are exceeded, the special off-road design automatically turns the vehicle back to a safe position, according to the laws of gravity. The player can rely on extremely secure support in any position. This means freedom to focus on what is really important: Playing the game of golf.
